RED CROSS LEADERS

Dr. T. E. Green and Miss Elizabeth Hunt Will Take Part in Roll Call.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 13, (Spl.)-Dr. Thomas E. Green, prominent lecturer and author and head of the speakers' sureau for the third Red Cross roll call, and Miss Elizabeth Hunt, a Red Cross nurse who held probably the most dangerous post in the United States during the war, and who is widely known in the United States as a chautatiqua lecturer, will be speakers at a meeting of the Memphis chapter of the American Red Cross at which the third Red Cross roll call for Memphis Nev. 2 to 11 will be put on.

Dr. Green was head of the speakers for the Victory Liberty loan and is head of several historical societies. Miss Hunt served through the war as chief nurse at the Edgewood acsonal, where the pelson gas of the United States was manufactured. Throughout the war the necessity of secrecy was so great that all workers in this arsenal were personally prisoners. Because of the very dangerous nature of the work that was carried on, accidents were inavoidable, and there were many casualities.

Already he had a harassing cough-consequence of the influenza which he had contracted in Paris. An impediment in his misal organs, which anybody else but a man as husy as the president would have had removed long ago, interfered slightly with breathing. Added that was the general debility of the resident due to his labors. "Nervous exhaustion" were the words seed to describe Mr. Wilson's illness at he outset and they are accurate describing the discussion of the president has graduals overcome two difficulties—loss of opetite and sleeplessness. No one denies that the president No one denies that the president if not checked might have gone on for a week or two and suffered a stroke of paralysis or burst a blood vessel or developed some other infirmity as a consequence of his shattered nerves. But he hasn't shown symptoms of any of these things and the point has been reached where they are not expected to develop.

Still Is Danger. Of course, if the president whose improvement has been gradual were to get up too soon, any of the things cited above might suddenly overtake him. But he isn't going to be permitted to get up too soon. His doctors have virtually confined him to seclusion for several weeks. And it will be three or four weeks before they will let him talk business or transact business and even then on a very small quantity basis.

Dr. Grayson's forte is prevention. All the physicians who have conferred with him and seen the president agree upon the wisdom of cancelling the trip and putting the president to bed. None is yet willing to advise a resumption of public business even on a small scale for fear of a relapse, but none is of the opinion that the president when he does recover will be less vigorous mentally than he was before he broke down, though necessarily he will not be able for a long time to tackie as much work or as many problems as he used to tackie.

In a sense this is a good thing for as many problems as he used to tackle.

In a sense this is a good thing for the president always did work too hard and the job of the presidency is a superhuman task. But as for the rumors that are going the round of clubs, fire-sides and social circles generally about the nature of the president's lilness, I am able to state on authority that would hardly be questioned if described that none of the men attending the president believe Woodrow Wilson will be less vigorous mentally when he gets out of bed than he was when he set out on his Western trip. COOL WEATHER AIDING PRESIDENT'S RECOVERY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Cool weather is adding President Wilson's recovery, it was said today at the White House, a decided drop in temperature last night, following a day of almost continuous rain, having resulted in another restful night. The president's physicians are inslatent, however, that danger of a setback in his condition can be averted only by complete rest for an indefinite period.

For several days the builteting on Mr. Wilson's condition, issued twice daily by Rear-Admiral Grayson, his physician, have noted slight improvement or "no change." Prior to the morning builetin today there was no indication that a more detailed statement was contemplated.

NEW YORK TERMINLAS TIED UP BY STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—New York's latest strike—that of 11,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers, tied up the principal railroad terminals of the greater city today.

In opposition to efforts of their leaders and notwithstanding an appeal from Gov. Smith for a postponement until word could be received from the railroad administration relative to demands for higher wages, the men quit work soon after midnight. The chief organization affected is the American Railway Express company with its 8,000 employes here.

The strikers' demands include a flat increase of $25 a month, an eight-hour day and a week's vacation every year. The Grand Central and Pennsylvanis stations were piled high with undelivered express packages early today, while the various dejots of the American Railway Express company were congested.
